Organizations worldwide use Black Duck Software’s industry-leading products to automate the processes of securing and managing open source software, eliminating the pain related to security vulnerabilities, open source license compliance and operational risk. Black Duck is headquartered in Burlington, MA, and has offices in San Jose, CA, London, Frankfurt, Hong Kong, Tokyo, Seoul and Beijing. For more information, visit www.blackducksoftware.com.

Future of Open Source Survey 2016

SECURITY SPOTLIGHT

Open Source Security and Management Practices Have Not Kept Pace With Rapid Adoption

Companies Aren’t Tracking Their Open Source Code

NEARLY 50% of respondents have no formal policy for selecting and approving open source code.

Reviewing Code For Open Source Content Is Still Haphazard

47% said they don’t have formal processes in place to track OS code.

Understanding Your Open Source Code

58% review code for open source content only under special circumstances.

Who Handles Known Vulnerabilities

1/2 of respondents said that no one has responsibility for identifying & tracking remediation.

How Companies Handle Known Vulnerabilities

33% of respondents said they are more likely to have responsibility for identifying and tracking vulnerability remediation than security organizations.

Growing Opportunity for Policies & Procedures

NEARLY 50% of respondents have no formal policy for selecting and approving open source code.

Companies Aren’t Tracking Their Open Source Code

Reviewing Code For Open Source Content Is Still Haphazard

Understanding Your Open Source Code

Who Handles Known Vulnerabilities

How Companies Handle Known Vulnerabilities

Growing Opportunity for Policies & Procedures